Ministry in a Flash 4.0

Welcome to the one-stop resource for your ministry with young people! We have designed Ministry in a Flash with you in mind—busy, mobile, multitasking, and dedicated—the list goes on. Ministry in a Flash 4.0 is filled with resources you can use, right now, wherever you and your computer may be. We like to call them qwiki resources, because, as you probably know, wikiwiki means quick in Hawaiian, and, while not a true wiki, these resources are quick and easy to use. In fact, so quick that you can use them for today's training or tonight's gathering. And, you can interact with the resources, as with a wiki, to customize them and make them your own.

As a special bonus, we have included all of our current CD resources—both Prayer Animated (PA) and Computer Based Ministry Training (CBMT)—to this flash drive, at no extra charge. If that were not enough, you also have two published research papers, plus journal articles on youth ministry. Finally, we have added an organizational system for your own stuff, so that you can keep all your favorite and important ministry resources in one convenient place. Future volumes of this resource will include even more qwiki resources, so check back with us—Ministry Training Source—each year for the latest and greatest youth ministry resources.
